MedBoards

The board game for board exams: an async multiplayer study game for PA, nursing and medical students.

In development

OVERVIEW

What we do

MedBoards turns board-exam prep into a race. Students pick their exam, race classmates across a board weighted to the exam's official blueprint, and answer original board-style questions with six choices each, taking one daily turn when they're ready.

PROBLEM

The problem

- Board-exam studying is long, isolating and repetitive.
- Question banks don't keep classmates engaged together.

SOLUTION

Our solution

- An async multiplayer game: one daily turn, played with classmates on your own time.
- A board weighted to each exam's official blueprint, with original six-choice questions.

PRODUCT

The product

- Exams: PANCE (PA), NCLEX-RN (nursing), USMLE Step 1 and Step 2 CK (medical).
- Special spaces: PIMP rapid-fire, head-to-head Challenge, Setbacks and Shortcuts.

MARKET

Who it serves

PA, nursing and medical students preparing for licensing and board exams.

MARKET SIZE

186,760

First-time, U.S.-educated NCLEX-RN candidates in 2024 alone (nursing only; PA and medical exams add more). Source: NCSBN, 2024 NCLEX Examination Statistics (2025).

TRACTION

Where we are today
